H. Reimert Makes Suits to Order

The new moon bung in the sky.
The sun was low in the west,
And my betrothed and I
In the churchyard pansed to rest—
Happy maiden and lover,
Dreamisg the old dream over;
The light winds wandered by,
And robins chirped from the nest.

And lo! in the mesdow sweet,
Was the grave of a little child.
With a crumbling stone at the feet
And the fivy running wild—
Taugled ivy and clover,
Folding it over and over.
Close to my sweethear's seet
Was the little mound up-piled.

Stricken with nameless fears,
She shrunk and clung to me,
And her eyes were filled with tears
For a sorrow I did not see:
Lightly the winds were blowing,
Softly her tears were flowing—
Tears for the unknown years
And a sorrow that was to be.
—T. B. Aldrich.

Editorial Notes.

"EQUAL rights to none and lottery odle to all," is the way they are translating the Populist motto now.

Capital: When the Populists had meeting at Silver Lake last week there were just eighty voters present by actual count. At the Republican meeting Tuesday there was an audience of 1,500 and fully one half were voters who were out to hear the truth.

PROF. MARVIN and Prof. Bailey, both of the University of Kansas, read papers before the American Association for the Advancement of Science at its recent meeting in Brooklyn which attracted much favorable comment. It will not be the "wild and woolly" West much longer.

CHAIRMAN BREIDENTHAL IS Still using a room in the State house as his People's party committee room, and he is still drawing his salary of $2500 a year as State Bank Examiner, although all his time is given to campaign work. Do the people want two years more of that kind of Reform?

THE Review of Reviews for September might well be called an international politics number, the word politics being used in its broadest sense. Every line of this whole compact issue is up to date and directly pertinent to the great problems that concern the world at the present moment.
